

Asks Health Plan Boosts

Conflict With Congress Threatened By Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson submitted to Congress today a cradle-to-old age health and education program to help feed poor children and meet the hospital needs of the elderly.

In a lengthy message, Johnson also called for creation of an advisory committee on alcoholism and a government center for research on its cause, prevention and control.

Satellite On Venus By Russia

First Man-Made Object To Land On That Planet

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today landed a satellite on Venus, the first man-made object to reach that cloud-wreathed planet, Tass announced.

The satellite was Venus 3, launched last Nov. 16. The official news agency said it carried to the planet's surface a pennant with the coat of arms of the Soviet Union.

There was no immediate claim that Venus 3 made a controlled landing, indicating that it had crashed. The Soviet Union made history's first soft landing on the moon last month.

The first Tass announcement said Venus 3 fell silent before hitting the planet in the final stage of the flight, indicating it was not sending signals from the planet.

But before that it presumably had been sending back information, because Tass said regular radio communication had been maintained.

However, Tass disclosed that another Soviet probe, Venus 2, passed the planet Sunday and presumably it will provide much scientific information.

Tass said Venus 2 passed only 14,900 miles from the planet. Venus 2 was launched Nov. 12, and it presumably is continuing on an orbit around the sun.

America's Mariner 2 passed 21,648 miles from Venus on Dec. 14, 1962. It radioed back invaluable scientific data, including information that Venus' surface is 800 degrees, too hot for human life.

Tass said data sent back by Venus 2 and 3 are being processed and studied.

Venus' distance from the earth ranges from 25 million to 161 million miles.

$175,000 Goal On Boys Club Building Fund

A $175,000 fund raising goal to provide for construction of a 16,000-square-foot youth center housing Sedalia's Boys' Club in west Sedalia was set Tuesday morning at a breakfast meeting of committee members who have been spearheading the project.

Site of the proposed new building — which would provide a wide assortment of recreational facilities — is just south of the Thompson Hills Shopping Center. Land, about eight acres, and a $50,000 trust fund to be used in maintaining the center were donated by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thompson and daughter Sylvia, 1020 South Barrett.

James S. Simon, chairman of the committee, presided at the breakfast session at Gold Cafeteria.

A banquet is being planned for March 22 to kickoff the fund drive and at that time preliminary plans and drawings for the structure are expected to be ready for display. Jim Ripley and Omer West are committee members in charge of the banquet, at which the Rev. D. Warren Neal, a former Sedalia pastor, is to speak.

Committee members also set April 2 as the date for a benefit auction on the Thompson Hills Shopping Center parking lot to raise funds for the continued operation of the Sedalia Boys' Club this year.

Potpourri of Data Seen In Venus Probe

CAPE KENNEDY, FLA. — The apparent success of two Russian Venus shots should provide more scientific information about the mysterious veiled planet than America's Mariner 2, the first spacecraft to investigate it at close range.

The twin success also demonstrates that the Soviets are serious about exploring outer space. At the same time, the U.S. planetary exploration program — which got off to a brilliant start — has been caught in a budget squeeze.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported that Venus 2 streaked within 14,900 miles of the planet on Sunday and that Venus 3 hit it today. Both were launched last November.

They followed failures of 11 previous Russian Venus probes and six attempts to send a space craft to Mars.

Mariner 2 zipped within 21,648 miles from Venus in 1962 and unlocked many of the planet's secrets. It showed that Venus has a surface temperature of about 800 degrees and little water vapor in its very thin atmosphere and that its cloud cover prevents surface heat from rising and escaping.

As Venus 2 darted toward its apparent hard landing, it may have provided more detailed information on the thickness of the venusian atmosphere. This data is needed if capsules, and possibly men, are to be landed there.

The United States has experienced only two failures in four planetary shots. Mariner 1 failed a Venus attempt and Mariner 3 flunked a Mars assignment.

Marines Claim 115 Kills

Wipe Out Cong Unit

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen and Vietnamese troops decimated a Communist company in the Bong Son sector today while U.S. Marines and other Vietnamese battled the Viet Cong's elusive 1st Regiment in three actions farther north.

The Marines claimed they killed 115 of the enemy, captured six and seized nearly 30 weapons in the fighting that began with their arrival by helicopter Monday 12 miles south-east of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon.

This was reported to have boosted to 605 killed and 14 captured the toll of an offensive launched by government troops eight days ago in South Viet Nam's two northern provinces, with actions centering from 20 to 50 miles from North Viet Nam's frontier.

Government troops and helicopters of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division cooperated in strikes against about 100 Viet Cong on the shore of the South China Sea near Bong Son, 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Eight hundred Marines made the landing Monday southeast of Hue. They linked up with Vietnamese paratroops and rangers and quickly established contact with a main force unit of 400 Viet Cong.

A 350-man government infantry battalion moved into the flank of the battle zone 400 miles northeast of Saigon this morning and found 100 more bodies. Most of them had been killed by air attacks before the arrival of the Marines.

A Marine spokesman said the

Russia Cuts Its Foreign Aid Program

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is cutting back its foreign aid program, a survey of available information shows.

This is bad news for developing nations at a time when aid from the West is failing to increase in pace with rising demands and when Communist China is defaulting on aid promises.

Authoritative sources say the biggest Soviet aid beneficiary, India, was told last year the Soviet Union cannot meet the Indians' expectations. The Indians were told domestic economic pressure is forcing the Kremlin to restrict its aid program.

Other countries have been disappointed. The most recent disclosure of this came two weeks ago from Kenya. It rejected aid that was tied to the sale of Soviet goods.

The Soviet aid cutback dates from the ouster of Nikita S. Khrushchev from power in October 1964.

Khrushchev was openhanded with aid, seeking to win friends and influence nations. His successors have taken a stricter attitude.

The Soviet Union has provided about $10 billion worth of aid to other Communist countries. Beginning in 1954, it started providing long-term, low-interest credits and some grants to non-Communist underdeveloped countries. Best available Western figures put the total at more than $4.2 billion in promised credits and grants through 1964 but only about $1.5 billion actually spent.

The Weather

Fair and not so cold tonight with low mid or upper 30s; considerable sunshine and mild Wednesday with high in 60s.

The temperature Tuesday was 35 at 7 a.m., and 58 at noon. Low Monday night was 35, with 20 inches of moisture.

The temperature one year ago today was high 60; low 28; two years ago, high 64; low 36; three years ago, high 46; low 17.

Lake of Ozark stage: 56.6 feet; 3.3 below full reservoir; down .3.

Perfect Day For Opening Trout Season

BENNETT SPRING, Mo. (AP) — It was a well nigh perfect opening of the Missouri trout season today at Bennett Spring State Park, usually the most popular of the state's four intensively managed trout areas.

More than 1,400 men, women and youngsters bought trout tags. The temperature dropped well below freezing during the night under clear skies. There was just a smidgen of breeze so the temperature wasn't comfortable to the heavily clothed anglers.

A deep frost blanketed the valley surrounded by timber-covered Ozark hills.

Long before the 6:30 a.m. opening the stream-side roads were clogged with cars in which over-eager fishermen talked and joked while waiting for dawn.

When the siren waited for the opening of the season the mile of spring branch was lined almost solidly with fishermen.

There were a lot of youngsters fishing and a trout officer would have had a field day picking up one-day school dropouts.

Of course, the kids can tell their teachers tomorrow they stayed away from school because they had a fever—trout fishing fever.

Charlie Mansfield of Clinton caught a hook-nosed monster in the grapevine stretch of the spring branch that weighed 10½ pounds.

Mansfield, who works at a missile site, was shy. He had a friend of his get the rainbow sided lunger weighed. But he said he's been a trout fisherman for many years.

Danny A. Hicks of Springfield 16, caught a fish of 8½ pounds on a fly.

FCC Forbids Use Of Wiretap Devices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has banned use of wire-tapping devices in recording private conversations.

Rules adopted by the FCC Monday prohibit anyone but law enforcement officers from using a radio device after April 8 to overhear or record private conversations of others. Violators are subject to a $500 fine for each day the offense occurs.

Appeals to Hanoi

Peace Talks Bid by LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson appealed to Hanoi today to negotiate peace, and held out the promise of a massive reconstruction program that would include North Viet Nam.

Johnson, addressing his remarks directly to the leaders of North Viet Nam in a White House ceremony marking the fifth anniversary of the Peace Corps, urged that they "negotiate peace and let war stand aside while the people of Viet Nam choose."

"For our part," Johnson said, "we will be willing to abide by the outcome."

Johnson told Hanoi's leaders "total victory is beyond expectation for them—as they must know it is..."

The only answer, Johnson said, is to negotiate peace and let the people of South Viet Nam, through free elections, select their leaders and their way of life.

"We are ready, when that day comes, to join in a massive effort to reconstruction and development open to all — including North Viet Nam," Johnson said.

After peace and freedom of choice are established in the South, said Johnson, "all the people of Viet Nam can freely express their will on the great questions of unification and national destiny."

Stressing anew that this country wants neither territory nor bases in Viet Nam, Johnson said:

"We fight for the principle that the people of South Viet Nam should be able to choose their own course, free from the coercions of violence, terror and fear."

"That is what we want for South Viet Nam. That is what the people of South Viet Nam want."

Johnson said Peace Corps volunteers would be sent to Viet Nam as they already have been sent to 46 countries, once there is peace.

Assembled in the White House East Room for the ceremony were ambassadors from countries where the Peace Corps is serving, returned Peace Corps volunteers, and many high-ranking government officials.

The Peace Corps got a new director.

Jack Hood Vaughn, who has been assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, took the oath of office from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

A Student Killed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A Lincoln University student stabbed fatally Monday night after an argument with a school friend.

Police said Ralph C. Hutt Jr., 19, of Troy, Mo., was dead on arrival at a hospital as a result of stab wounds in the abdomen and side.

Walter Victory Lay Jr., 18, of St. Louis, a fellow Lincoln student, is being held in connection with the death, police report.

Officers said the stabbing, on a city street, occurred after they had an argument while walking to their quarters.

Appropriations Hearing

Push for Funds For State Fair

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Dexter Davis, agriculture commissioner, told the House Appropriations Committee Monday night a substantial investment will be necessary in the future to renovate the state fairgrounds at Sedalia.

"One of these years," he said, "we're going to have to wake up and put in a lot of capital improvements."

Davis said the facilities there could be used for other activities except during the annual nine-day state fair. But the budget won't permit use of the necessary utilities. Even if the buildings were leased at a profit, he said, the budget is not flexible enough to do it.

Included in the fair's capital improvements budget for next year is $27,500 for safety cables and warning lights at the track where four persons were killed during the fair last year when a racing auto left the track.

The killed and injured were in a restricted area, Davis said.

Also included is $23,000 for planning a new grandstand and $27,000 to repair the existing one.

Davis said motorcycle racing would be featured on the track the last night of the fair this year.

Auto racing nets the fair about $28,000 a year, Davis said and horse racing loses about $15,000.

"People just aren't interested in horse racing," Davis said, "unless they can bet on them." Robert D. Scharz, state insurance superintendent, told the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday his division needs about 30 more examiners in order to check insurance companies' operations at least once every three years.

Money is no problem, he said, since examiners' fees are paid by the companies. The problem is in recruiting.

Scharz said he has hired nine more examiners since taking over the division early last year, bringing the total to 21. Three had to be recruited from other states, he said.

The division's $613,978 budget request for next year would provide 17 new jobs.

Two spokesmen for the American Life Convention representing major insurance firms in Missouri, urged budget approval.

Frank P. Aschemeyer, of the ALC executive committee, said "I'm sure Mr. Scharz would agree with me when I say the state supervision of the insurance business is on trial."

J. K. Bales, ALC state vice president, said Missouri companies prefer state to federal regulation.

Scharz said the division will seek significant changes in the state's insurance laws next year at the legislature's regular session. One bill would provide for direct payment to examiners by the division instead of by the companies they investigate.

C. W. Culley, director of the State Finance Division, also asked for additional examiners. He said 68 banks were not examined last year because of a lack of personnel.

He said there is no duplication of services by state and federal agencies, since federal examiners do not have the power to issue or revoke bank charters.

Culley also predicted an increasing role for his division in checking credit unions whose treasurers often are volunteers and lack training and experience in handling financial matters.

The Highway Patrol called for an additional 70 troopers.

Col. E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, superintendent, said the patrol was authorized 145 additional men by the legislature last year. Seventy-five already have been recruited and trained, he said.

The $10 million patrol budget is financed mostly through highway funds.

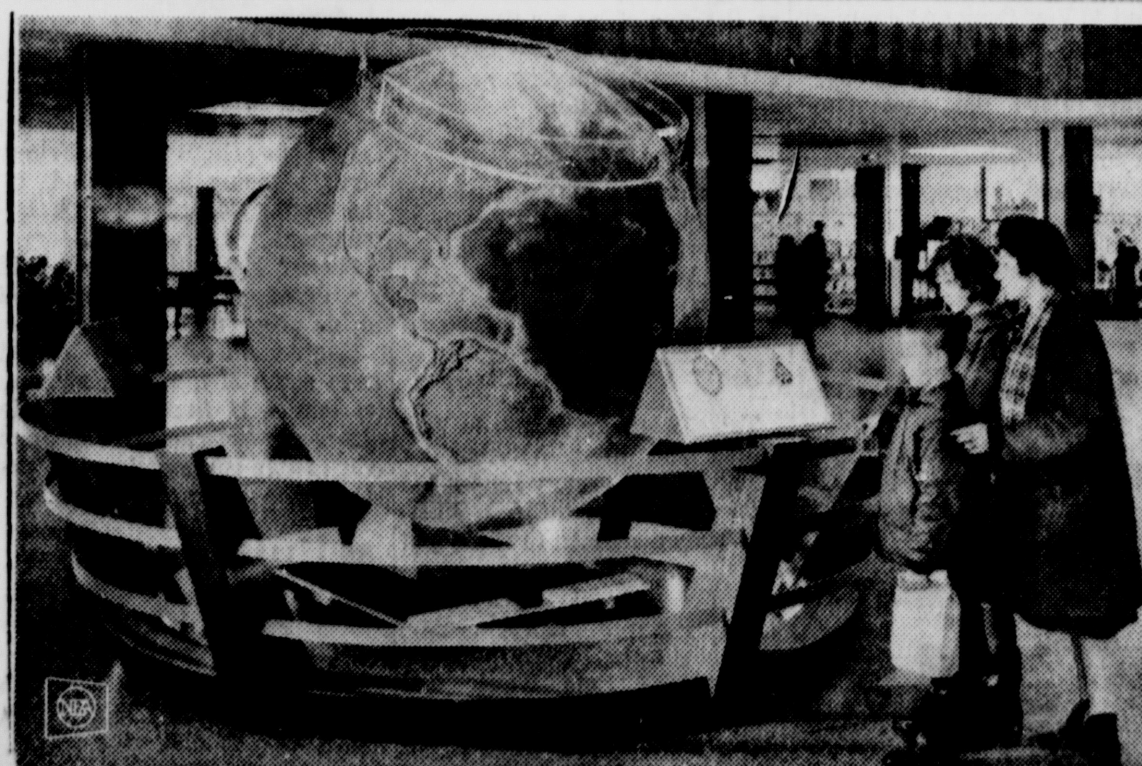

US Steel Revamps Certain Price Lists

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. has raised prices on certain products, reduced some prices and left others open to negotiation with buyers.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers gave tacit approval and estimated the changes made Monday would amount to an increase of two-tenths of one per cent in the price of steel.

The council said the changes would contribute to economic stability.

U.S. Steel said it increased prices on some nails, staples and brads by $6 to $15 per ton and raised by $1 to $6 per ton extra costs on some carbon, high-strength and alloy plates.

Wipe

(Continued from Page One) Viet Cong reacted sharply, "were very aggressive and well equipped," but added that the combined air-ground assault was too much for them.

South Vietnamese forces spotted 15 to 20 junks apparently trying to evacuate the remnants of the Viet Cong from the coastal peninsula where the fighting flared. Air attacks were summoned but there was no immediate report of results.

Vietnamese troops took blocking positions along a river parallel to the peninsula to prevent the enemy's escape by land.

Other government battalions continued operations farther north around Quang Tri City, less than 20 miles from the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone.

A spokesman said one spearhead killed 48 Viet Cong and captured three machine guns, one mortar and 42 other weapons Monday.

This raised the enemy toll since the drive began eight days ago to 390 Viet Cong killed, 8 captured and 79 weapons seized, he said.

FEATURE OFFICIALS—C. H. (Herb) Taylor, manager of Sedalia's Water Department, is one of 50 water officials featured in a national advertising program of the Cast Iron Research Association. His photograph, biography and a statement regarding use of cast iron pipe in the city water system will appear in ads printed in Engineering News-Record, Journal of American Water Works Association and others. Taylor, 2501 Kay, a Central Business College graduate, has been with the Sedalia Water Department 12 years and has taken additional study in waterworks, engineering and accounting. He is active in the American Water Works Association.

People In The News

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Today's generation of young people "is the most religious of modern times," says evangelist Billy Graham.

In an address Monday to the Atlanta Press Club, Graham said that young persons are "making a tremendous impact on the social, economic and political and moral life of America."

The evangelist, who said 60 to 70 per cent of his revival meetings are attended by persons less than 25, said youngsters want a faith to believe in and a purpose for living.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken is hospitalized with bruises and a possible concussion suffered at the hands of robbers.

Two assailants — finding no money—stripped the archbishop of his keys and Rosary, a gift from Pope John XXIII three years ago in Rome. They left him lying dazed on the street in front of his Pacific Heights home.

The archbishop, 62, said he was accosted by two men as he was returning home Saturday night from his nightly stroll. A heavy overcoat and scarf concealed his clerical collar.

He was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital.

NEW YORK (AP)—The post of national director of the Congress of Racial Equality passes today from James Farmer to Floyd McKissick.

In the medical and health field, Johnson noted that one-third of the general hospitals in the nation, containing 260,000 beds, are obsolete and the pressure on hospitals will row when medicare goes into operation July 1.

"To begin to meet this urgent need," he said, "I recommend legislation to mobilize public and private resources to revitalize our obsolete hospitals. This will require a loan and grant program to assist in the long-term financing of hospital renewal projects."

"I also propose a five-year program of grants for research and demonstration projects in the organization, financing, utilization and delivery of health services."

While he was at it, Johnson recommended:

—Grants to states and communities for planning better use of manpower facilities and funds for comprehensive health services.

—A new state formula, beginning in the 1968 fiscal year, for such health services.

—Also to start in that same year, a program of grants to states, communities, medical schools and hospitals to meet special health programs.

—A three-year program to provide grants for training needed health workers. The money would be used to build and improve schools, to provide fellowships, and to develop new types of health personnel.

In the field of general education, Johnson proposed a four-year extension of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and, along with it, a boost from $2,000 to $3,000 in the family income formula for providing educational help to the poor beginning in fiscal 1968.

He proposed that Congress authorize $5 million additional to help communities plan school construction so as to encourage innovation and deal with obsolescence, overcrowding and such special problems as segregation.

For the Higher Education Facilities Act, Johnson urged extension for three more years and authorization of $458 million in construction grants for the 1967 fiscal year beginning July

Boeing Wives Hold Initial Lunch Feb. 25

The first of a series of Boeing Wives luncheons was held Feb. 25 at Holiday Inn.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I took up painting as a hobby a few years ago and became so good at it that many friends have bought my canvases.

My mother-in-law admired a seascape I did last spring. I was especially proud of that particular painting. After considerable hinting, she finally came right out and asked for the painting. I gave it to her for Christmas.

A few weeks ago I visited in my mother-in-law's home and was shocked to find that she had bought some paint and changed my picture. Not only has she destroyed the mood I created but now the picture looks frightfully amateurish. I am ashamed to have my signature on it.

Should I ask my mother-in-law to remove my signature from the painting since it is no longer MY work? Or should I remain silent and do a slow burn every time I walk into her home?—INSULTED.

Dear In: If the U.S. government ever runs short of brass they ought to hunt up your mother-in-law.

By all means tell her you would like her to remove your signature from the painting because you are unhappy with the alteration and it is no longer your work.

Dear Ann Landers: Please, please, please, keep telling teenage girls to listen when their parents beg them not to get married right out of high school.

I was a dumb 17 when I married Rudy. He was 28 and looked like Ray Milland. Today I am 30 and I look like 45. He still looks like Ray Milland.

We have four children and I love them dearly, but their father is a stranger to them. I have never seen a man so disinterested in his family.

My last baby was several weeks premature. The woman I had lined up to take over when I went to the hospital was unable to come so early. My husband popped the kids on my mother (who was just recovering from a heart attack) and he checked into a hotel.

Our whole marriage has been like that. Whenever one of the children is ill he goes hunting or fishing or skiing—anything to

Rotarians Hear Voice Of Dr. Furbay

Sedalia Rotarians listened to the voice of Dr. John Furbay, director of the global education program for Trans World Airlines for four continents, from a recording of an address entitled, "The Shape Of The World of Tomorrow" recently delivered to an American audience. The program was in connection with the regular Monday noon meeting of the Sedalia Rotary Club.

According to Dr. Furbay, the four dreams of man are shaping the world to come. Those dreams are: (1) The dream of world peace — universally wanted since the character of war has changed from a limited affair to a complete annihilation potential; (2) The dream of enough to eat — today more than one billion people will go to bed hungry; (3) The dream of self government — freedom from domination by a mother country; (4) The dream of human dignity — which is coming fast for second rate citizens as the younger generation is given equal opportunity for education.

The outcome of the present struggle between the free world and communism will depend on which system makes possible the fulfillment of the four dreams of man.

In introducing the program, Dave Martin stated Dr. Furbay was the winner of two international trophies for interpretation of world affairs, a Fellow of Royal Geographic Society of London, a graduate of Yale University with a doctor of philosophy degree, a graduate student of the Sorbonne, Paris, and the University of London.

Owen Fox, University Center Youth Agent, was introduced as a new Rotarian by A. J. Harlan. Guests at the meeting were: Conrad Rothganger, with Rotarian Hardy Cobb; and student guests Ron Cruse, Tom Logan, Kenneth Wright and Danny Cope. Larry Hale made the introductions.

Fred Crnic, president, announced that Miss Libby Mackey, Rhodesia, South Africa, a Smith-Cotton exchange student, would tell of her native land, March 7, when Rotarians were invited to bring their daughters for the meeting. On Monday, March 14, a night dinner meeting honoring past presidents, will be held at the Masonic Temple. Wives of Rotarians are invited to attend this meeting.

Invocation was given by the Rev. J. R. Wallace, and group singing was led by Aubrey Case with Firmin Boul at the piano. In closing the president called attention to the final narrated film showing of the current series to be held Tuesday, March 1, 8 p. m., in the Smith-Cotton High School Auditorium. Miss Bathie Stuart will present in person her film entitled, "New Zealand", which will be the songs, chants, dances and story of that country. Rotarians were asked to bring guests for this closing presentation of the travel and adventure series.

'Twice Cost Of Project'

Economic Impact Of New Kaysinger Reservoir Told

WARSAW, Mo. (Feb. 28) — The economic impact the Kaysinger Dam reservoir will have on west Central Missouri when the project is completed around 1970 is expected to be twice the cost of the project, Chamber of Commerce members were told here Monday night.

W. D. Hill, publicity chairman for the Kaysinger Bluff Area Association, told the group that a review of progress in recreational facilities development, retirement home building, influx of new people and tourist trade around similar projects in other parts of the nation, indicates "vast economical potential in the Kaysinger project for the area."

He called attention to the fact that in 1965 a total of 67,399,440 vehicles entered the State of Missouri. This is up 11.3 per cent over 1964. 25,309,000 entered Missouri through the Kansas City area, which is 33.9 per cent over 1964. As for vacation travelers for 1965, the total was 19,821,131, which represents 8.81 per cent of the total vehicular traffic into the State of Missouri.

Figures compiled by the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development indicate that 63 per cent of the tourists entering the State of Missouri spent less than one day in Missouri, and 14.4 per cent only one day in Missouri. Actually, the total number of man-days for tourists spent in the State of Missouri was 33,414,054.

"It might be well to note that out of these almost 20 million tourists, the largest percentage of them came from the State of Illinois, which was 17 per cent, and the second largest group came from Kansas, which was 10 per cent; but added to that was the State of California with 9.7 per cent, from Texas seven plus per cent, from Oklahoma five plus per cent, and from Iowa five plus per cent. This indicates that West Central Missouri, and especially this Kaysinger area, stands a good chance of attracting the greatest tourist flow of any recreational area in the great midwest."

The number of out-of-state tourist vehicles in 1965 totaled 5,937,366. The number of tourists totaled 19,821,131. The average duration for a tourist visit was 1.7 days. The average size of the tourist party was 3.3 people. The average person spent $10.14 per day, or $22.15 per stay, or $73.96 per party per stay. Total tourist expenditures in the State of Missouri last year were $633,716,650. Of that $633,716,650 Missourians themselves spent in excess of $170 million of it. In other words, the tourists in Missouri last year provided 8.3 per cent of our total retail sales.

Hill urged community interest throughout the area in planning and promoting the project because of its influence in industrial development on the area's future as a new recreational playground. He is news editor of the Sedalia Democrat and has been closely associated with the Kaysinger project for five years.

Current cost figures for the Kaysinger Dam have been set at more than $152-million and the purpose of the dam is to control flood waters run-off in the Osage basin. Damages from flood waters in this area have been estimated at more than $152-million for five years.

"It's up to nearby communities to turn the corrective measures on disaster, waste, havoc and death into additional useful purposes besides flood control," Hill said.

"Delay in planning to take advantage of the economic potential accompanying the project, until the dam at Warsaw is com-

Runge To Helm Of Commission

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A Republican, G. Andy Runge of Mexico, was elected chairman Monday of the special commission to redistrict the Missouri House of Representatives.

Robert S. Dorsey, Brookfield Democrat, was chosen vice chairman, and Mrs. Alberta Green, West Plains Republican, secretary.

One Democrat on the 20-member bipartisan commission was absent — Denton Smith of Springfield.

That enabled the Republicans to elect Runge temporary chairman on a 10-9 vote. Runge, an attorney, is Audrain County Republican chairman.

Smith showed up soon afterward. He said he had been circling the Jefferson City airport, unable to land because of a low ceiling.

Then the commission closed the doors for an executive session and within a few minutes the names of the permanent officers were disclosed.

Will W. Davis, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' press secretary, convened the meeting and told the commissioners the governor realizes they have a tough job to redistrict the House in just 21 working days. He said "the governor wishes you the greatest of success."

After the temporary chairman was elected, Davis bowed out. He said the governor did not want to be accused of dominating the House commission as he was accused of telling the Senatorial redistricting commission what to do last summer.

When the commission comes up with a House map, it will have seven days to hold public hearings and must file its final version with the secretary of state by April 1. Those will be the districts in which 1967 candidates for the House will run. But the commission has to 14 votes to decide on a reapportionment plan. If it fails, the job goes over to the six Supreme Court commissioners, who will then have until April 16 to complete the task.

That is just 10 days before

From the pages of history's 1800's comes a strange adventure story of a strict British Naval Lieutenant who is sent to Spain to recapture the world's largest cannon...

An agreement is made between the leader of the Spanish guerrilla forces opposing Napoleon that the Lieutenant can take possession of the gun if he will use his technical knowledge to help them get it out of Spain before the French discover its existence.

There is a strange turn of events which leaves a bloody path of courageous footprints and a cannon trail across the entire Spanish domain.

Conventional Lie Is White

This is candidate weather in Sedalia. As the city primary election March 8 approaches those who are seeking offices are also seeking votes. Some are doing this chore more vigorously than others but it is worthy to note more than the usual number are campaigning. This applies especially to the many candidates who desire to be members of the board of trustees of the proposed Junior College which is up for consideration by Pettis and Benton counties in an election April 5.

In a coffee shop discussion one prominent Sedalian was asked why he didn't file as a candidate for mayor of Sedalia. Although his name had been mentioned often he said he did not respond to the invitation because he was involved in some business projects he wanted to complete. After this was done he might get into politics seriously.

The subject of the wholesome support he had received to "get into the race," prompted one of the coffee drinkers to relate the story about a Sedalian, who sought public office many years ago. This man canvassed the community door by door and was so successful he remarked before election day: "I can't possibly lose. Almost every man and woman I contacted assured me their support."

Came election day and this Sedalian wound up about third best, way behind. Said he the day after election:

"I have discovered there are three kind of liars in Sedalia—the conscious ones, the unconscious ones and the doubtful ones."

There are black lies and white lies. The people who promised to vote for this candidate were merely telling white lies.

A white lie is the kind someone tells the wife who calls at the club for her husband and is told "no, he isn't here," or "he just left a minute or two ago."

The white, or conventional lie, recalls the anecdote about Dean Swift. He called on a friend and was told by the servant: "master is not at home." Later the friend called on the dean, and Swift, opening the window, shouted, "Not at home!" When the friend expostulated Swift said, "I believed your footman when he said his master was not at home; surely you can believe the master himself when he tells you he is not at home."

So much for conventional lies which primary and Juco candidates hope the voters aren't telling them prior to the casting of ballots.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER: What's the Name?—In the interest of legibility, the Internal Revenue Service often makes the request that taxpayers print or use a typewriter. That's because many people have signatures that defy handwriting experts. So while the income tax forms have to be signed at the bottom to attest to their validity, it's easier on the IRS if the names are printed or typed at the top.

This year the IRS prepared and sent to taxpayers the customary brochure of instructions and tax forms. On the cover is a special message from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. The signature is reproduced.

"In case you can't make it out, it is, well—we had to look it up to be sure. It is Sheldon S. Cohen."

Face Boring Future

There are about a billion holes that need filling in this country. This is not, however, a problem for the local department of highways. It concerns parents, schools, people in the public health field and dentists.

The billion holes are the untreated cavities in the teeth of adults and children in the United States. The figure is the estimate of the National Institute of Dental Research in Bethesda, Md.

The institute's statistics also reveal the startling fact that half of the children under 15 have never been to a dentist.

Many of these kids will undoubtedly later participate in the 20th-century version of the Great Gold Rush. But by then it may be too late for many of them.

Significant Revolt Against One Man

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — The overthrow of President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana is much more significant than merely a revolt against one man. It probably puts a stop—at least for the time being—to the campaign of the Communists, particularly the Chinese, to take over West Africa.

In no part of Africa, with the possible exception of nearby Guinea, was there such an intense drive to undermine the democratic system which the British had left behind when they gave Ghana its independence. Nkrumah, trained first at Lincoln University and later studying at the University of Pennsylvania, was first considered a model leader for democracy. But power went to his head. In addition to calling himself the "Son of God" and "The Redeemer" and building some hundred statues of himself in various parts of Ghana, a la Joe Stalin, Nkrumah embarked on a definite campaign of socialism. He established the government-operated Black Star Steamship Line and the Ghana Airline—though his country could support neither—and proceeded to nationalize almost every industry in the country.

Nkrumah formed a state mining corporation, Ghana Tire Service Corporation, the Ghana Cannery, the Paper Conversion Corporation, and the State Farms Corporation, a system of government farms patterned after Russia's.

He built up a big army, navy, and air force though Ghana had no need for them unless it assumed the offensive against its neighbors. And when Ghana collected a reserve to insure cocoa growers against price drops, Nkrumah spent the money on other things.

As a result Nkrumah started using the printing presses and frantically tried to borrow $800 million from the United States, Britain, and France. When rebuffed, he went hat in hand to the International Monetary Fund, which also turned him down.

As a result, citizens of Ghana began migrating out of the country the same way East Germans migrated to West Germany before the Berlin Wall was built. In the adjacent Ivory Coast, a free enterprise country, thousands of Ghanians took up residence.

Finally Nkrumah worked secretly with Chinese agents to foment revolution against neighboring West African governments.

Here is a secret instruction sent by the head of the Chinese Communist conspirators, A. Dangeladima, to "President Bremu of African Affairs, P. O. Box M 41, Accra, Ghana":

"The Central Committee of the Revolutionary General Staff of Niger, has the pleasure to call to your attention its project for a military revolt in Niger under the direction of the Sawaba party of Niger, which is in the process of being realized by the arrival of several of our members in Niger.

"As you promised us the soldiers, all necessary military assistance morally, militarily, and also financially, we are now ready to assign some of our 25 partisans, who have arrived from China and Cuba with a complete ideological training in both political and military fields, to Guerilla warfare inside Niger.

"Enclosed is our plan of attack, for information and to be given a rapid execution, as I have told you. Some of our men have already arrived at Jibia, from where they are to continue on to Maradi and Dosso to recruit peasants in support of our cause.

"I await your action in favor of the African government and unity. Commandant A. Dangeladima."

The World Today

Inflationary Trend Not Licked Yet

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't attach too much significance, experts warn us, to January's pause in the steady rise of living costs.

There were such pauses now and then in 1965, they point out, but the year-long trend was upward.

January would have been up a little, too — about one-tenth of 1 per cent — except for the New Year's cut in excise taxes on phone bills and cars. The unpleasant behavior of meat prices alone is likely to push living costs up for some months to come. And bad news from Viet Nam could make far worse things happen.

All right, we won't flip. Inflation isn't licked yet, we know.

But we're all entitled to take some satisfaction from the January figure anyway, because it means that inflation hasn't really begun yet, either.

After December's four-tenths of 1 per cent rise in living costs — the fourth consecutive monthly jump and the biggest for any December since 1950, when Red China entered the Korean War, no one could be sure that the price creep wasn't breaking into a gallop.

It looked to many as if "inflation psychology" was taking hold. That's a type of behavior which is really speculation. It impels housewives to overload the shopping cart with sugar. It causes manufacturers to order twice as much copper as their production schedules warrant. It leads retailers to mark their price tags up so they'll be plenty high in case of a price freeze.

If those things were happening, President Johnson almost surely would have to call, sooner or later, for a stiff but temporary general tax increase to siphon more money out of the pockets of consumers and businesses.

Well, January proved — to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, at least — that the economy is "safely below the threshold of inflationary phenomena — that we still have substantial price stability."

Those were the words of Bureau Commissioner Arthur Ross. He told reporters that if the "phenomena" — hedge-buying, inventory — loading and hoarding — had been prevalent, the January leveling-off of living costs could not have occurred.

Most particularly, it could not have occurred in a month when unemployment dropped to a nine-year low of 4 per cent. Price pressures tend to rise when almost the whole labor force is drawing paychecks.

In fact, no industrial country has been able to prevent a price climb under conditions of high employment. This country's increase of about 1.5 per cent a year have been modest compared with Western Europe's.

"If those phenomena do not occur," Ross said, "the situation is not dangerous even with an annual price increase of 2 per cent or more."

Ross and other economists agree that even a considerably stepped-up effort in Viet Nam should have far less impact than did the Korean War on the much smaller U.S. economy of 15 years ago.

So: the inflationary phenomena need not happen. They apparently haven't happened yet. Is it too much to hope that, with wise government policy and private self-restraint, they may not happen at all?

mum two-club response but his points include two aces and the queen of his partner's suit. He really should bid again and three spades is better than two no-trump because he has no stopper in diamonds.

South carries on to four spades. West opens the king of diamonds and continues with the ace and eight. South ruffs the third diamond and studies the hand. He has already lost two tricks and has a sure club loser. There is also a potential heart loser, although South does have a finesse in that suit if he needs it.

He notes that dummy holds five clubs and sees that he has a chance to set up dummy's fifth club for a heart discard. South leads a club. West plays low and South sticks in dummy's jack just in case West holds both the king and queen.

East wins and returns a trump. South wins with the ace, leads a club to dummy's ace and ruffs a club high. It does not matter to him that East shows out on that third club if trumps break 3-2.

He leads a trump to dummy's queen. Both opponents follow and all South's worries are over. He ruffs another club with his next to last trump, draws West's last trump with his own last trump and makes the last three tricks with the king and ace of hearts and the 13th club.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Heart Patients Avoid Smoking, Late Hours

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—The doctor told my husband, 56, that he has coronary insufficiency and that there is no cure for it. Can you give us any helpful suggestions?

A—Although there is no cure for the damage that has already been done steps can be taken to prevent further damage. Your husband should avoid smoking and late hours, but he should get a moderate amount of exercise (preferably walking) every day. Drop a line to the American Heart Assn. (44 E. 23rd St., New York, N.Y. 10010) and ask them for pertinent literature.

Q—Could working closely with animals to which I am allergic cause serious heart damage? Has it ever been established that an excess of cheese or eggs or both in the diet would damage the heart?

A—In some persons contact with the cause of an allergy will favor hardening of the arteries and eventually a coronary heart attack. The chief allergens that cause heart disorders, however, are foods, tobacco, drugs, serums and pollen, rather than animal dandruff or feathers.

Cheese and eggs are valuable foods. Like other foods they should be eaten in moderation unless you have an allergy to them in which case you should avoid them. Since they are high in cholesterol, taking excessive amounts over a prolonged period would favor hardening of the arteries and this, in turn, might damage the heart if it didn't damage some other vital organ first.

Q—What would cause a high cholesterol level in a middle-aged person and what symptoms would it produce? What is the normal level?

A—Cholesterol is a normal constituent of your diet and of your blood. When your diet is high in cholesterol your liver partially compensates for this by manufacturing less and when your diet is low in this substance it will be produced by your liver. Eating large amounts of foods that contain saturated fatty acids will increase your blood cholesterol level and eating foods that contain unsaturated fatty acids (margarine in place of butter for example) or taking a large amount of niacin will decrease it.

A high level will not of itself cause any symptoms but over a period of years it may lead to coronary heart disease. The normal level is usually given as 150 to 200 but, to be on the safe side, you should try to keep it under 220.

The Holy Family during the early years of Christ in Nazareth. The cave homes, as shown to the tourists, are now underneath the Church of the Annunciation and St. Joseph's. Mary's well is no doubt authentic because it is still a flowing spring, the only one of its kind in Nazareth, and it is still used today.

On the northern tip of the Sea of Galilee, now called Lake Tiberias or Lake Kinneret, is Capernaum and the Mount of the Beatitudes. Across the Sea in Syria is the snow-capped, 9,000 ft. Mt. Herman. On the road from Tiberias to Nazareth is the Village of Cana where the miracle of changing water into wine is said to have taken place. There are two churches — one Catholic one Orthodox — which claim this site.

Other places of religious interest are: Mount Carmel; Mt. Zion, the Tomb of the House of David; and Mount Tabor, the traditional mount of Transfiguration. Archaeological excavations are still going on in many of these places and digging is one of the chief industries in Israel.

Israel is grateful to the rest of the world for the interest and contributions given in the development of the country. Its foreign policy is to live in peace with the rest of the world, but certainly at present the threat of war hangs heavily. Having been established by refugees, it sympathizes with other refugees, but so far peaceful negotiations have not taken place. The Israeli's live both in hope and fear.

Inheritance Becomes One Of Life's Little Ordeals

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is what to do about inheriting money.

Social standing in most communities depends on two factors: How much money you have, and how much you may inherit.

Horatio Alger proved long ago that anyone with a lot of pluck, luck and hard work could become rich and famous. But this path to glory is too stern and dreary for most of us.

Besides, people who attain wealth the hard way often become embittered and stingy. On the other hand, inheriting

Hopes Test Shows Will Be Retired

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC had us watching television with pencil and pad again Monday night, this time testing ourselves on the quickness of our eyes and ears.

We were asked, in more than 60 questions, to pick the larger of two disguised circles, to judge the speed of several moving vehicles, to describe characters in a riot scene and to report as witnesses of a staged chase scene.

The program underlined the fact that many personal factors — emotion, surprise, background, training and prejudices among them — are likely to distort and color our observation. The quiz, however did have one unusual aspect: the correct answer to at least one question was "I don't know."

But enough is enough. In the past year I have tested my driving, my knowledge of diseases, my citizenship, my honesty and now my eyes. Next month CBS wants me to test my knowledge of income tax regulations. And then, I hope, the networks will give this particular format a rest for awhile.

Perry Como's guest stars, Judy Garland and Bill Cosby, picked up the usual lazy pace of his monthly variety show agreeably Monday night.

There was a tongue-in-cheek bit of spy nonsense by Cosby running vaguely all through the show. Miss Garland's numbers were gay and off-hand. Cosby's monologue was amusing. The hour, which sometimes moves very slowly, zipped by.

"To Tell the Truth," CBS' long-playing Monday evening game show, is expected to go to late Sunday afternoon to replace "Mr. Ed." "Gilligan's Island" will probably lead the Monday night schedule next season. A comedy series starring Jean Arthur is the probable show to replace "Hazel."

NBC's fall schedule is expected to contain 10 new series. CBS will probably have eight, plus another two hours of old movies.

Altogether, that represents at least 35 new shows — a larger turn-over than usual.

Sand Plants Close Pending Contract

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Eight sand-producing plants in the Kansas City area were shut down today following expiration of a three-year contract with Operating Engineers Union Local 101.

Spokesmen said the companies decided not to operate without a contract.

Dan Sullivan, union president, said the union was not on strike and would continue to seek a new contract. Fewer than 100 engineers are involved.

The construction industry may be hit hard if the shutdown lasts very long. Most concrete suppliers have stockpiled sand in anticipation of a shutdown. Some said they had enough to operate one to four weeks.

Green Ridge Presby Women Study 'Jonah'

Mrs. Carl E. Johnson gave a Bible lesson, "A Reluctant Missionary," pertaining to the Book of Jonah, for Ruth Circle, Green Ridge Presbyterian Church, at the home of Mrs. H. H. Ream in February.

The group voted to assemble a school packet to be sent to national missions. Mrs. Gertrude Helman is world service chairman.

The Rev. and Mrs. James Williams and members of Knob Noster Presbyterian Church were social hour guests. Martha Circle served refreshments. The Rev. Mr. Williams is a candidate for pastor of Green Ridge Church. Mrs. Ream, assisted by Mrs. Helman, served refreshments.

Plans for entertaining Green Ridge High School seniors were made.

Mrs. Verna Palmer, chairman, gave yearbook of prayer service for personnel in Iran and the Synod of Pennsylvania in interracial programs and in underprivileged areas. She also gave a Scripture article and prayer.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Helman.

Milk Price Hike Proposed for Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals to raise minimum producer prices of bottling milk in 32 marketing areas in the spring and early summer months is being considered by the Agriculture Department.

The department said Monday that representatives of dairymen supplying these markets report shortages of milk for consumers are possible unless prices are increased over levels which otherwise would prevail.

The markets are located in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

The department will hold a public hearing at St. Louis, Mo., March 9 to consider what the appropriate levels of prices of Class I fluid milk should be for the next several months to assure ample supplies.

Legal Opinion May Move Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark was to deliver an opinion today on a new license sought for the controversial Cassius Clay-Ernie Terrell heavyweight title fight.

Clark, whose legal diggings Friday seemed to have kayeod the possibility of holding the March 29 fight in Illinois, had the entire matter tossed into his lap Monday by the Illinois Athletic Commission.

If the fight is booted out of Chicago, Louisville loomed as the possible site.

Louisville is being given "very strong consideration," said attorney Arthur Grafton, spokesman for Clay's Louisville sponsoring group.

Bob Evans, the Kentucky boxing commissioner, said he has not yet received a request to license the Clay-Terrell bout in Louisville and declined to speculate on a decision.

Clark had ruled that the fight would be illegal because the promoters' corporation was made up of only two men — Irv Schoenwald and Ben Bentley — instead of the 50 persons required by the state code.

At Monday's hearing, Schoenwald appeared before the commission and requested a new license as an individual promoter. The commission unanimously approved the move and said the application would be submitted to Clark for a ruling which was expected today.

Temporarily obscured in the legal maneuverings was the cause of the entire situation which stemmed from Clay's remarks — called "disgusting" and "unpatriotic" by Gov. Otto Kerner — following his reclassification from 1-Y to 1-A and his subsequent refusal to offer a suitable apology to the commission at Friday's hearing.

Clay did not appear at Monday's hearing, but Terrell was on hand complaining that his training program was being upset.

Immediately following Schoenwald's request for a new license, Commission Chairman Joe Robichaux and Lou Radzienda referred all questions concerning the status of the fight to the attorney general.

The commission has been withstanding political pressure throughout the state to cancel the bout.

Gov. Kerner requested last Friday's hearing in order to get an apology for Clay's remarks. Mayor Richard J. Daley opposes having the fight in Chicago.

Main Bout Inc., which includes members of Clay's Black Muslim religion and has the closed-circuit television rights for the fight, is reported ready to shift elsewhere should the fight be kicked out of Illinois.

Kentucky Has Strong Position

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas Western held second place today, its highest ranking in The Associated Press major-college basketball poll. But the unbeaten Miners have a long way to go to catch Kentucky, the nation's only other undefeated team.

Texas Western trails the Wildcats by 66 points in the latest vote by 40 regional experts based on games through last Saturday. Each has two games remaining on the regular-season schedule, the Miners against New Mexico State Wednesday and Seattle Saturday and Kentucky against Tennessee Saturday and Tulane next Monday.

Kentucky collected 38 first-place votes and 396 points in the most recent balloting. Texas Western advanced one notch with 330 points while Duke slipped one place to third with 311 points.

The Wildcats lifted their record to 23-0 last week by defeating Mississippi and Tennessee. Texas Western whipped Texas and Colorado State for a 22-0 mark. Duke suffered its third loss of the campaign, 99-98 to Wake Forest in overtime.

Michigan's Wolverines were replaced in the rankings by Cincinnati, 20-5. Michigan relinquished 10th place after suffering its sixth loss of the season, 91-82 to Iowa.

The Top Ten, won-lost records through games of Saturday, Feb. 26, and total points:

1. Kentucky 23-0 396
2. Texas Western 22-0 330
3. Duke 20-3 311
4. Chicago Loyola 21-2 244
5. Vanderbilt 21-3 219
6. Kansas 20-3 215
7. St. Joseph's, Pa. 21-4 133

Antitrust Suit Back To Court

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball was expected to move back into the courtroom today after an all-day, exhibit-numbering session provided the first indications of the war of words that will be waged before a decision ultimately is reached.

The entire courtroom proceedings at the opening session Monday lasted about 10 minutes before Circuit Court Judge Elmer W. Roller brought the combined battery of 17 legal experts into his chambers for the behind-the-scenes legal skirmishing involved in marking exhibits.

Judge Roller kept the attorneys — nine for the state and eight for the National League — at the exhibit marking in an evening session with the hope of proceeding back to the courtroom today for opening statements.

Willard S. Stafford, special counsel for the state, was scheduled to make the opening statements for the prosecution, which will contend that the National League and its 10 members violated Wisconsin antitrust laws by moving the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

The important case, which likely will test the entire structure of baseball and probe its special antitrust status, began minutes after 9 a.m., before a packed courtroom holding about 150 onlookers, the 17 attorneys and a jury box filled with reporters.

The only official move was an attempt by baseball's counsel to amend its answers to the state's complaint by getting before the court rulings by Georgia and Texas judges. Those judges, respectively have ordered the Braves and the league to play the 1966 season in Atlanta.

The importance of the actual court trial stems from two factors — the effect it will have on the Braves' scheduled opening date in Atlanta April 12 and the far-reaching impact it may have on baseball's antitrust status. Judge Roller has instructed the National League to prepare to play in Milwaukee if so ordered by the court.

Warriors Face Double Trouble

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The San Francisco Warriors are in double trouble.

The Warriors lost their grip on third place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division scramble Monday night when St. Louis trimmed Detroit 108-103 at Memphis, Tenn., in the only game scheduled.

In San Francisco, meanwhile, 6-foot-11 Nate Thurmond, the Warriors' top rebounder, entered a hospital for treatment of a recurring back injury. Thurmond will miss the club's three-game road trip to New York, Detroit and Philadelphia this week.

The Hawks moved one-half game ahead of San Francisco in the battle for the last Western Division playoff berth as Len Wilkens, Zelmo Beaty and player-coach Richie Guerin came through with the key points against the last-place Pistons.

St. Louis, now 2½ games behind second-place Baltimore in the West, has played three fewer games than both the Bulls and San Francisco.

Top Cast For 1966 AP Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Cazzie Russell, a 6-foot-5 whiz from Michigan, became a two-time All-America today with the announcement of the 1966 college basketball All-America by The Associated Press.

Joining Classy Cazzie on the first team are Clyde Lee, the 6-9 dandy from Vanderbilt, 6-4 Dave Schellhase from Purdue, 6-0 Louie Dampier from Kentucky and 6-3 Dave Bing from Syracuse. All are seniors except Dampier, a junior.

Russell dominated the voting by 214 sports writers and broadcasters from throughout the country. The Michigan ace collected 1,036 points on the basis of five points for first-team vote and two for the second team.

Lee polled 808 points, Schellhase 613, Dampier 541 and Bing 527. Russell was named on the first team by 206 voters, Lee by 146, Dampier 91, Schellhase and Bing 87 each.

Jim Walker, Providence's 6-3 junior star, heads the second team with 71 firsts and 447 total points. Other second-team members are two Duke standouts, 6-6 Jack Marin and 6-0 Bob Verga, 6-5 Dick Snyder from Davidson and 6-5 Matt Guokas, Jr. of St. Joseph's, Pa.

Marin polled 290 points, Verga 285, Snyder 244 and Guokas 222. The third team is composed of 6-11 Walt Wesley from Kansas, 6-11 Henry Finkel from Dayton, 6-3 Bob Lewis from North Carolina and two Kentucky stars, 6-5 Thad Jaracz and 6-3 Pat Riley.

Each of the 15 squad members will receive certificates from The Associated Press.

Russell, a native of Chicago, has been a prime factor in keeping Michigan among the country's basketball powers the last three years.

Lee, who moved up from the 1965 second team, has been the key factor in Vanderbilt's drive to a spot in The Associated Press' Top Ten rankings this year. His home town is Nashville.

Schellhase, who also moved up from the 1965 second team, is the country's leading major-college scorer. A native of Evansville, Ind., the Purdue ace recently set a Big Ten single-game scoring record with 57 points against Michigan.

Coach Adolph Rupp credits Dampier with being the driving force behind Kentucky's rise to the nation's top-ranked power and sparkplug of its sweep through 23 straight opponents in an undefeated season. Dampier is from Indianapolis.

Bing, who hails from Washington, D.C., is the nation's third-highest scorer and sparked Syracuse to a berth in the NCAA championship tournament. He also leads the Orangemen in assists and rebounds.

Detroit and Philadelphia this week.

The Hawks moved one-half game ahead of San Francisco in the battle for the last Western Division playoff berth as Len Wilkens, Zelmo Beaty and player-coach Richie Guerin came through with the key points against the last-place Pistons.

St. Louis, now 2½ games behind second-place Baltimore in the West, has played three fewer games than both the Bulls and San Francisco.

CAPITAL GAINS—University of North Carolina forward Bob Lewis, of Washington, D.C., is making a run for the nation's collegiate scoring championship. A junior, Lewis is averaging nearly 32 points per game and also ranks among the top 10 in the country in field goal percentage.

Cheri Mills Is Tops In Singles In Tourney Here

A substitute bowler with two years experience this past week-end won the singles event championship in the Sedalia Women's City Bowling Tournament at Hillcrest Lanes with a total 672 pins to her credit.

Cherie Mills, who entered the tournament on the final day to take the place of a bowler stricken by illness, opened her series with a 184 game and followed that with scores of 154, and 193. That made a total of 531, which, combined with a 141 pin handicap, gave her a grand total of 672. She brought a 121 average into the tourney.

Doubles champions for the tournament were Dorothy Hopkins and Pat Hotchkiss, both starting on the victory trail with scores in the opening game over 200. Dorothy shot a 202 and followed that with 141 and 159 for a 502 series. Pat scored 242, 146 and 178 for a 566 total, which was added to the first total. Then, with a 168 pin handicap, the champions ended up with a 1,236 total.

Both doubles and singles events were held last week-end. The preceding weekend saw the Roadrunners from Whiteman AFB win the team events with a 2,976 series. Frankie Ritter, bowling for the Roadrunners, shot a 593 series, which was never bettered in the tournament.

High scratch game in the tournament was bowled by Pat Morris with a 257 in the first game of the doubles events. Pat Hotchkiss took second place Sunday afternoon with a 242, while third place ended in a tie between Marianna Pelham and Pat Hotchkiss, each with a 235.

Doris Tippie finished a close second behind Mrs. Mills in the singles event, scoring games of 195, 172 and 202 for a 671 series total, including her 102 pin handicap. She owned a 143 average prior to tournament play.

Second place in the doubles events went to Sadie Mills and Donna Whitfield. Sadie had games of 171, 171, and 172 for a total of 514, while her team mate shot games of 127, 138 and 166 for a 431 total. Their handicap of 231 pins gave them a series total of 1,226.

The coveted all-events trophy was won by Esther LaBille. The award is presented for outstanding performances in team, single and double events. Bowling with the Scatter Pins team, Esther shot a 561 to add to her doubles score of 491 and singles score of 581 for a 1,633 series.

Last weekend, 98 doubles and 196 singles competed for the championships in those two divisions.

In Wrestling Action

Reed And Stomper Join To Battle Japanese Twosome

Stylish Ronnie Reed, a Midlands wrestling favorite, will join forces with the giant Stomper to overpower the cagey Japanese twosome of Tor Kamata and Oki Shikima.

The event will highlight a four-match card that promises an evening of free-swinging, jolting ring action.

Reed cast about for one of the strongest partners he could link up with and felt he was fortunate in forming this one-match alliance with the 265-pound Stomper.

The giant has the power to back up any wrestling maneuver, but his greatest asset is his ability to come through in clutch situations — an important consideration in team action. Reed lends the speed and finesse, qualities that have earned him a reputation as a top-flight wrestler in this section. The Baltimore pro has a heavy fan following.

Lee Henning will be in action against the Butcher in tonight's semifinal — an event that figures to rival the team match for rough and tumble ring war. Henning is an old hand at the roughing phase of the game and especially wants to get his hands on the villainous Butcher.

Reed is matched against the tricky Kamata in a separate event, while the Stomper will try his hand against Shikima in the opener.

Starting time for tonight's program is 8:15.

No. 1 nationally with a 20-1 record. Nebraska won 55-48.

In 1960, a 70-60 Nebraska victory at Lincoln eventually forced K-State to share the crown with Kansas and KU won the NCAA playoff.

Colorado kept its first division hopes alive by beating Oklahoma 92-77 Monday night at Boulder. Chuck Gardner had 23 points for Colorado, which hit 54 per cent of its field shots. Oklahoma is fourth at 6-7 with Colorado close behind at 5-7.

Oklahoma State kept Missouri in the cellar by whipping the Tigers 68-51 at Columbia with 62 per cent shooting from the field. Jim Feamster led OSU with 18 and Charlie Rudd topped Missouri with 18. OSU now stands 2-10 in league play, Missouri 1-12.

Questions Waiting For Johnny Keane

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A year ago at this time Johnny Keane looked over the scene in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and said:

"It's the greatest collection of talent I've ever seen."

He'll be looking over the same general cast again today — a collection of talent that finished sixth — but is more likely to see tape and bandages, aches and pains, aging arms and legs.

Mostly he'll see question marks.

And the biggest question mark of them all is the one named Mickey Mantle, the 34-year-old successor to Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth, the man the New York Yankees must count on to lead them out of the wilderness of the second division.

Yankee regulars were due to check in for spring training today, but all the attention centered on The Switcher and his outfield mate Roger Maris.

There are plenty of other questions — Can Elston Howard make a comeback at age 37? Can Whitey Ford at the same age continue to be the stopper? — but it's on Mantle and Maris that the Yankee revival depends.

Maris, plagued by a hand injury, appeared in only 46 games last season and, over a three-year period, has averaged only 92 games a season. If the Yanks are to rebound, the 31-year-old bomber must return to full-time action.

Keane, who must win or be in deep, deep trouble, will save his greatest concern for Mantle, coming out of a hospital and fresh from an operation to begin his 15th major league season.

A bone chip was removed from his right shoulder over the winter. His legs are fragile and always rapped with yards and yards of tape. He played 122 games last season and Keane has admitted that he can't count on Mickey for many more than that.

But the answer as to whether he can provide the lift needed won't be known for some time.

In some other major action around the baseball training camps, the Los Angeles Dodgers' Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale remained holdouts, each seeking a three-year, $500,000 contract, and Dodger outfielder Tommy Davis proved a disappointment in his first full workout of the season.

The two-time National League batting champion was limping on the ankle he dislocated last May 1 and Manager Walter Alton said he probably won't be completely recovered by the start of the season.

The Detroit Tigers, meanwhile, suffered their first casualty of the season in right-handed pitcher Joe Sparda. Sparda got the index finger of his pitching hand caught in a car door.

New Feeder Flights For Ozark Airlines

KIRKSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Ozark Airlines inaugurated four new feeder flights with Kirksville between St. Louis and Des Moines today.

Former flights between Kansas City and Chicago ended Monday. They failed to meet the FAA standards of 150 passengers a month.

The new flights also stop at Ottumwa, Iowa, Quincy, Ill., and Columbia and Moberly.

Adelman drilled in 35 points. Austin has a broken bone in his left foot and is through for the season.

Charles Beasley scored 27 points, leading Southern Methodist past Texas Christian 100-96 in overtime for the Mustangs' ninth straight victory and a one-half game lead over Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference derby.

In a small college thriller, Gannon nipped 10th-ranked Youngstown 71-69 in six overtimes. The three-hour marathon fell one overtime period short of the all-time record.

Mossler Testimony At An End

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The defense claims there was no need for Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, to kill her husband to safeguard an illicit love affair.

"Murder had to be the last resort — they had the clear run of all the universe at their disposal," according to the defense argument, which held that the couple did not lack for discreet hideaways for sinful dalliance.

Circuit Judge George Schulz was asked to dismiss first-degree murder charges against Mrs. Mossler and Powers in the 1964 murder of her aging, multimillionaire husband, Jacques. He reserved decision.

Arguments Monday for the dismissal motion afforded a preview of today's final summations.

The ebb and flow of a month's testimony at an end, the last witness descended from the stand in a white-walled sixth-floor courtroom, the all-male jury was left to cope with a flood of legal oratory from both sides. The case should reach the jury this week.

Mrs. Mossler, an attractive blonde grandmother who insists her age is 40, and her darkly handsome nephew, Powers, 29, are on trial for their lives in the June 30, 1964, bludgeoning and stabbing of her husband, the head of a $33-million banking and loan empire.

The state claims a sordid, unnatural love bond between Mrs. Mossler and Powers led him to slay her husband with her connivance.

In Monday's session in court chambers, with the jury absent, the defense sought to have the charges dismissed before they reached the jury.

Defense attorney, Walter Quinn, arguing in Mrs. Mossler's behalf and referring to the state's contention that an illicit love affair was at the root of the slaying, contended:

"Murder had to be the last resort. With Willoughby (the Mossler mansion in Houston), the 40-acre ranch in Galveston, hotels and motels all over the place, and other homes in Miami and Chicago, they haven't shown this to be a reason for murder."

"How does the state explain, if this is the motive, that Jacques Mossler lived in Miami for a year? Why did they have to kill him? He was gone already. They had the clear run of all the universe at their disposal."

Countering for the state, Asst. State Atty. Arthur Huttoe reviewed testimony leading up to the slaying of Mossler at 1:45 a.m. He pointed to Mrs. Mossler's presence at 2:30 a.m. in a Miami hospital where she sought treatment for head pains. The state says the visit left her apartment clear for Powers and provided her with an alibi.

"It can be concluded that Candace left the house and took all the kids so only Mossler would be there," Huttoe said.

Courtroom Confession

NEW YORK (AP) — In a dramatic courtroom confession, Talmadge Hayer says he was one of the assassins of black nationalist leader Malcolm X.

He declared that his codefendants — Norman 3X Butler and Thomas 15X Johnson — "had nothing to do with it."

Hayer, 24, testified Monday that he had three accomplices, but he refused to name them. He said the killers were hired. But he refused to say who hired them or why, or how much money was involved.

The Sedalia Democrat-Capital NEWSPAPERBOY HONOR ROLL

JANUARY, 1965

Jerry Pabst, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pabst, 909 Ruth Ann Drive, is this month's winner of the honor roll in his area, the west side of Sedalia. Jerry, a freshman at Sacred Heart School, has been a carrier since July of last year and has already proved himself to be a real businessman and salesman. He is a member of Sacred Heart Church and in his spare time enjoys music, karating, and water skiing. A real fine job, Jerry!!

Number one in the east district of area carriers this month is John Baker, Route 1, Lincoln. John, 12, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Baker and is in the seventh grade at Lincoln School. At school, he plays baseball, and is the center fielder. He is a member of the Church of Christ and plays basketball, and on the little league. His hobbies are model cars and a poem collection. John, you had some real stiff competition, but you really came through with flying colors!

Keeping ahead in the race for the east side Sedalia Honor roll this month is David Kemp of 412 Dal-Whi-Mo. David, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kemp, really had to work to come out ahead but he made a really good showing and came out in front. He is in the seventh grade at St. Patrick's School and is center on the basketball team there. Also he is in the choir and participates in track meets. He is a member of St. Patrick's Church and the treasurer of the Legion of Mary. His hobbies are model car building and racing.

This month's winner of the honor roll of the area carriers on the west side is Edward Godwin, son of Colonel and Mrs. Jasper L. Godwin, 839 Westover Terrace, Whiteman A.F.B. Edward is 14 and in the 8th grade at Knob Noster Junior High School. He is a member of Knob Noster Methodist Church and president of his Sunday School class. His hobbies are Ichthyology, and slot racing. A good job in a real tight race, Edward!

Business Analysis

Administration Guideline Disputes Near Showdown

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — How far the government should go in guiding wages, prices, money and credit may come to a showdown this month.

The administration's guidelines have been challenged by some labor leaders, criticized by some corporate executives, and declared inadequate by some bankers.

President Johnson has taken two steps which should result in either fresh approaches to the problem of inflation or in a clearer view of just where the government stands.

First, the President has asked his top department heads and advisers to outline definite plans for combatting, or warding off, inflation. The question still to be answered is whether the plans will be for immediate action or of a standby nature.

Second, the President has named to the Federal Reserve Board an economist he calls a moderate. The board has been split fairly evenly between conservatives and liberals in tackling the problem of easy money vs. tight money. The moderate, Andrew F. Brimmer, would succeed C. Canby Balderston, a conservative. President Johnson himself has been regarded as a liberal or easy money man, while the board chairman, William McChesney Martin, usually is on the more conservative side.

Labor Ills Hit Chilean Economy

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A wave of labor trouble, much of it Communist inspired, threatens to upset Chile's wobbly economy. Strikes and slowdowns have hit basic industries and public services.

There is fairly general agreement that the situation will get worse before it gets better despite a pledge by the government to use every legal weapon against the threat.

The country is faced with the prospect that a two-month strike against the Kennecott Corp. will become a nationwide copper strike and that a slowdown in the ports will turn into a strike this week.

Strikes soon on the government railway system and in the national health service also have been threatened if contract demands are not met.

Electric power, steel, telephone and nitrate workers are to begin negotiating new contracts soon. Union leaders say they will be much tougher this year.

The copper picture is the bleakest. Copper is Chile's basic industry, employing the largest work force and accounting for the majority of exports and foreign exchange.

Copper workers have been on strike at Kennecott's El Teniente mine and Caledonia smelter in the Andes south of Santiago since Jan. 3, seeking higher wages and fringe benefits plus a sizable bonus.

Leaders of the 17,000-member Copper Workers Federation say workers at the Anacondita mines and smelters in northern Chile will strike in sympathy with the Kennecott workers if the strike is not settled within a day or two.

There seems little chance of that. The government said Sunday night it would take no further part in the Kennecott talks until union leaders explain a statement they issued Saturday attacking the government's role in earlier negotiations.

The government mediators have come up with formulas aimed at breaking the deadlock, but the unions have rejected all of them.

President Eduardo Frei and his Cabinet held a special session Friday and issued still another statement saying among other things that no further expansion of the settlement offer would be acceptable to the government.

The copper workers and the majority of the other major unions are controlled by Communists or Marxist Socialists, and much of the blame for current labor unrest has been laid on extreme leftist politicians.

The statement from Frei and his ministers said many of the strikes clearly have been politically inspired with the obvious aim of blocking the government's programs.

Businessmen, labor officials, financial leaders are still pretty much in the dark as to what the outcome of the two steps will be. March might well give the answer.

Just how Brimmer will vote on the question of tightening money and credit further if inflationary drives increase may not be known for awhile. But the day of decision can't be too far off, in the view of many bankers.

Just what the presidential advisers will suggest — and what the President will do — about plans to make wage and price guidelines more effective, if not more popular, also will be disclosed later.

The reaction of labor, business and the financial community to any tightening of the guidelines might be one of resentment and resistance. It depends on how the new plan is proposed and how it is administered.

The public, too, will have a stake in the outcome. That's because plans to fight inflation will probably involve taxes and the cost of borrowing money and the returns for lending it.

Labor thinks any new taxes should be aimed at corporate profits. Management thinks this would kill the goose that is laying the golden egg of economic expansion. Without a chance for profits there'd be little incentive to build new plants, buy new equipment, hire more workmen.

All taxpayers will be unhappy if income tax rates are raised again, if more excise taxes are restored, if the paycheck is cut by larger withholdings.

But as March starts, labor, business, and bankers seem to be pretty much at loggerheads with the government's policy of guidelines on wages, prices and money policies. A showdown, if in the making, would at least clear the air of uncertainties which today are befogging the stock market and business planning.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Leaders of the military coup last week say their regime will move Syria closer to the Communist bloc.

The government newspaper Al Thawra announced Sunday that Syria "will look more positively to the Socialist (Communist) countries to bring about a practical formula for a joint struggle against world imperialism."

The new regime "will also try to consolidate economic and technical cooperation within the Socialist experiment with the Socialist camp," the newspaper said.

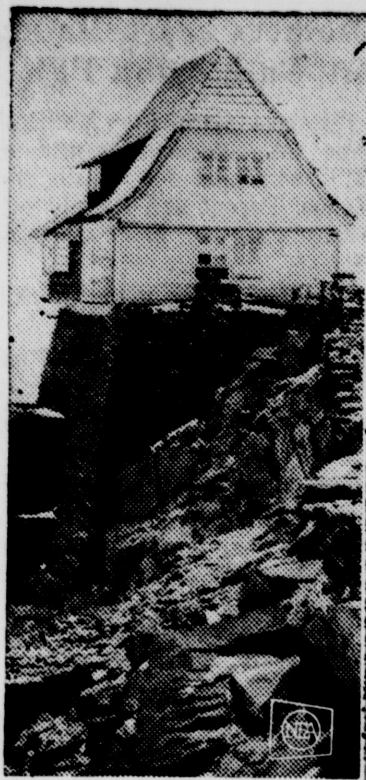

The new government's first foreign-policy announcement appeared to confirm reports that the left-wing officers who ousted Gen. Amin Hafez did so to counteract what they considered a slowing down of socialism under his regime.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources say about 10,000 Roman Catholic priests have asked for release from their vows in the past decade, mostly because of celibacy problems.

The sources estimated that several thousand others have turned their backs on the Church without trying to get release from their vows.

Many men who left the priesthood and married in civil ceremonies have sought to return to good spiritual standing as married men, absolved from their priestly promises, the informants said.

The sources said the Vatican recently sent out private instructions to all bishops on how to deal with such cases. They simplify the steps to be followed and grant bishops greater discretion in judging each case.

PRECARIOUS PERCH— Not the imminent victim of a landslide, but a ski lodge, said to be the highest in the world, perched at the edge of 17,860-foot Mt. Chacaltaya near La Paz, Bolivia. Chacaltaya, in the ancient Aymara language of local Indians, means "closest to heaven."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz says at the present time there is no need for the Johnson administration to consider mandatory wage and price controls.

This is because, he said Sunday on NBC's television show "Meet the Press," there still is sufficient voluntary self-restraint among business and labor to prevent runaway inflation.

But the labor secretary also acknowledged that what he called "a real resistance" exists toward the administration's suggested 3.2 per cent wage increase ceiling and its request that price lines be held.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unprecedented study of the 15-year history of the U. S. foreign aid program in Nationalist China reports that the aid probably doubled the country's economic growth rate and lifted its living standards 30 years ahead.

The study was compiled by a team headed by Neil Jacoby, dean of the University of California (at Los Angeles) graduate school of business administration.

The findings indicate that Formosa justifiably is a U.S. aid showpiece, although some criticisms were noted. The Jacoby study said the $1.4-billion job probably could have been done for $200 million less, but also added that "such perfection in human affairs is unattainable."

Formosa's per-person income climbed from about $100 in 1951 to $160 last year and should go to $300 in the next 15 years, the study said.

The Jacoby report was released Sunday night by Director David E. Bell of the Agency for International Development, which sponsored the research.

Loss of Leg Doesn't Keep Actor Down

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The loss of a leg might spell doom to the career of an actor, particularly one like Jay C. Flippen who specialized in playing rugged, hard-bitten characters.

Yet Flippen has returned to action in a television Western, "The Virginian," just a year after his right leg was amputated because of gangrene.

The 65-year-old actor is not yet able to walk on his own for a role, but the makers of "The Virginian" found a period wheelchair for him to emote from. Those who watched the filming report that Flippen comes on as strong as ever.

"I think it went very well," he said afterward. "It was a good, tough part of a rancher who has two sons, one a do-gooder and the other a no-gooder. They had me play the role with a blanket over my legs, so nothing was made of the missing leg."

The drama, titled "Wolves in Front, Jackals Behind," will appear on the NBC series March 23.

Born in Little Rock, Ark., Flippen first exercised his wry, raspy comedic style in minstrel shows then in vaudeville. He was a popular emcee-comedian in the heyday of radio and starred in Broadway musicals like "Artists and Models" and "The Second Little Show."

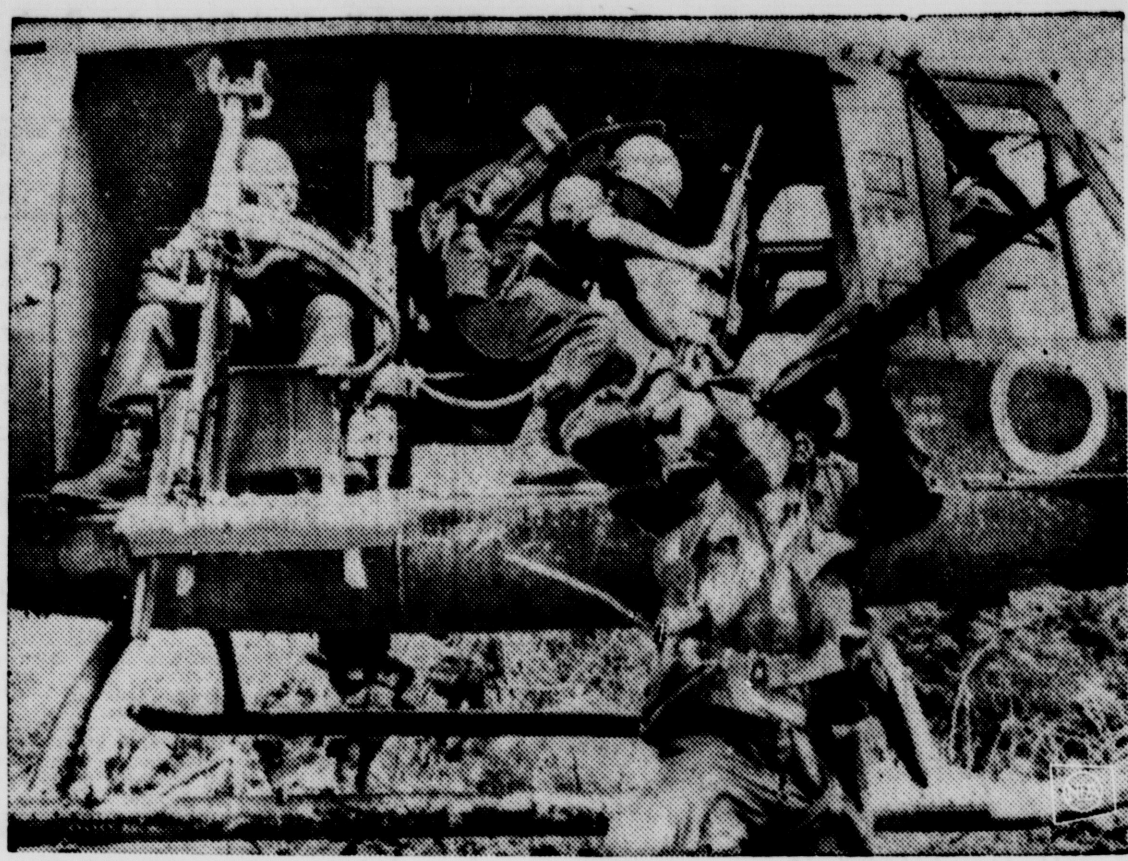

Later he shifted his career to Hollywood and became one of the busiest character actors in films. His most frequent roles were as a Western sheriff or the tough-as-nails top sergeant of a fighting outfit.

While playing in "Cat Ballou" a year and a half ago, Flippen noticed a sore on his leg. He tried home remedies, but the sore wouldn't go away. Infection spread, and the leg became gangrenous. Flippen was hospitalized for 10 weeks in constant pain.

Finally his doctors told him: "Lose the leg or become a vegetable."

"I've been working at the UCLA hospital with my prosthesis," Flippen reported this week. "I'm not looking for any miracles, because it's more difficult to learn how to use an artificial leg when the cut was above the knee."

Public Meet On Kaysinger Recreational Plan Slated

A public meeting will be held at 7 p.m. March 23, in Community Hall, Warsaw, for the purpose of determining the desires of local interests and governmental agencies in developing the recreational resources of the Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir. Section 4 of the Flood Control Act of 1944 authorizes the Chief of Engineers to "construct, maintain, and operate public parks and recreational facilities in reservoir areas."

In the preparation of a Master Plan, which serves as a guide in the development of the recreational features of Kaysinger Bluff project, the Corps of Engineers has developed a tentative plan providing for access roads, parking areas, sanitary facilities, water supplies, boat launching ramps, and picnic and camping areas. This plan will be described at the meeting. A map of the project indicating the general location of proposed public use areas is reproduced on the reverse side of this notice.

Persons attending the meeting will be given an opportunity to express their views concerning the character, need, and extent of the recreational improvements. Representatives of Federal, State, county, and municipal agencies, and highway, railroad, flood control, and watershed improvement interests and all concerned property owners and interested individuals are urged to attend or be represented at this meeting.

Statements presented at the meeting, whether oral or written, will be considered in planning the development of the Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir for recreational use.

Held Up Horse Race With a Shotgun

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Walter John Hoysted, who held up a horse race with a shotgun because he thinks jockeys shouldn't use whips, was fined $80 today.

A friend paid his fine and legal expenses, saying, "I believe in Wally's cause—it is right and I am willing to pay for him."

Hoysted, 52, told the court he took his shotgun to the Flemington race course on Feb. 19 "to extricate a promise that whippings would not go on."

"I would not have hurt anyone," he said. "I wouldn't hurt a fly."

The court fined him $30 for being armed with an offensive weapon, $20 for discharging a firearm without authority and $30 for assaulting a policeman.

Hoysted, who said he was a jockey until he got too heavy, said he would try to organize a sitdown campaign at a Melbourne race course.

If the first part of your car registration number is here, you might be a winner.

Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past few weeks. And every week there are 72 new winners posted on the showroom wall. So watch for next week's list of new symbols in this newspaper.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number. While you're in the showroom, get a good look at the Buick Special. The $2332.00* happens to be its price. *Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6, 2-dr. coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge.

Contest Rules. Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Buick's $1,000,000 Sweepstakes.

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his ✓ Double-Checked used cars, too.
